

RECORD NUMBER OF SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED FOR 2024 COE

The Midwest Poultry Consortium awarded 36 scholarships for the 2024 COE class, which is a five year high for scholarship awards and tied for second highest awards in MPC's history.

In January, MPC staff convened its Scholarship Award Committee which offered COE scholarships to fortunate students eager to immerse themselves in an intensive six-week curriculum of poultry science education. While awarding scholarships tends to be a difficult process as applications outnumber available scholarships, MPC staff and representatives from MPC member universities, awarded scholarships to highly-motivated students who are excited to begin their journey within the poultry industry.

2024 COE classes begin on May 13 and conclude on June 21. As part of their scholarship award, students are also placed in summer internships at the conclusion of COE courses. Internships are hosted by MPC sponsor companies and allow students to apply and build upon the skills they've learned during their time in the classroom.

This summer, COE will be held on the campus of the University of Minnesota. The COE alternates annually between the University of Minnesota and Iowa State University.

Interested in hosting a COE student for a 6-10 week internship? If so, please contact MPC at mpc@mwpoultry.org. COE internships are paid and, in many cases, housing is also provided by the internship host.
